6. Judging. This is a game of skill; chance plays no part in determining the winner. Each valid entry will be individually judged based on creativity (33.4%), originality (33.3%) and suitability to Promoter's brand (33.3%) ("Judging Criteria") by a panel of judges appointed by the Promoter, within 2 business days of the end of the Promotion Period. The entrant with the highest score based on the Judging Criteria will be selected as the potential winner. In the unlikely event of a tie, the entry with the highest score under the category of creativity among the tied entrants will be deemed to be the winner. Prospect of winning will depend on the entrants' skill in satisfying the Judging Criteria. Judging will be conducted at the Promoter's head office at 7 Smallwood Place Murarrie, QLD Australia (or another location as deemed appropriate and reasonable in the circumstances). The Promoter's decision is final and no correspondence will be entered into.
7. Notification. Winner will be announced, within 2 business days of the winner being determined: by having their name published on the Michael Hill website for a period of 28 days after the winner being determined. The Promoter will phone the winning entrant with details of how to collect the prize.
8. Claiming the prize. Winner must claim their prize within 10 business days of their details being published, and the winner being notified, in accordance with clause 7. If a prize remains unallocated or unclaimed after 10 business days, the entrant whose entry is judged the next best entry as determined in accordance with clause 6 out of the remaining entries will be the potential winner of the prize. In the event of a re-judged winner, the winner will be notified on the 11th business day after the notification of the first winner in the manner set out in section 7.
